To Whom It May Concern,

The Riverside Police Officers' Association would like to announce its endorsement of Ted Lieu for Attorney General. After conducting interviews and doing research, we believe Ted Lieu is the best candidate to protect public safety and serve as California's next Attorney General. Ted Lieu got his degree from Stanford University and law degree from Georgetown. He was in the Air Force and continues to serve in the reserve. He worked to ensure public safety for the City of Torrance as a councilman. Ted Lieu continued his dedication to service in his work as an assemblyman for California's 53rd Assembly District. For example, his bills include the topics of DNA (AB383), domestic violence (AB2052), and sex offenders (AB1900). Ted Lieu fought to reverse a proposed $20 million dollar cut to California drug task forces, stood up to the powerful banking industry through mortgage-related bills, and voted no to a proposed bill that would have given drivers licenses to illegal immigrants. He also worked to reduce, if not eliminate, some assembly members' attempts to release thousands of prisoners and lessen the supervision of parolees.

Ted Lieu wants to continue to address the banking industry and work on mortgage fraud. He talked about the importance of drug enforcement in this state and plans to monitor Marijuana collectives and prosecute those operating outside the law. Ted Lieu wants to be an advocate for California's law enforcement community and has been very accessible. He also demonstrated common-sense leadership by voluntarily taking a 10% pay cut in the assembly, along with paying for his own car and gas.

Ted Lieu is a JAG prosecutor in the Air Force, has experience in civil law, and his wife is a former Deputy Attorney General. He has the experience to do the job, expressed a plan for his term as Attorney General, and demonstrated his support for public safety. Ted Lieu is the best candidate for California's next Attorney General.

Sincerely,

Kevin Townsend
